Hard liquor ration for Alberta for the months of November and December has been doubled, and permit-holders will be entitled to buy 28 ounces in each of the two months. J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, announced today that the amount of beer and wine available to Albertans in the next two months remain the same, with one dozen pints of beer and 28 ounces of wine per month available to permit-holders.

The increased ration is a gesture for the coming holiday season, Mr. King said.

New allotments of liquor, wine and beer will be available on liquor board Nov. 1, as a new beverage year starts on that date. The board will draw its supplies out of the new allotment on a quota basis, and the quota remains the same as for the beverage year ending Oct. 31.

Airman's Story Of Wife's Death Told by Police

his wife and ask that he be held without bail."

The magistrate asked Longman if he had any preference as to a date for an adjournment.

"Any day, sir," Longman replied. The court then set Nov. 5 for adjournance and pleading.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan indicated he would ask the grand jury to review the facts and return an indictment against the R.C.A.F. aircraftman.

REPORTED "CUT OFF"

The New York World-Telegram said it had learned that Mrs. Longman had been told by cutting off her husband, who came from a middle-class Toronto family, without a cent.

It was reported Longman learned that fact, the World-Telegram said, but whether it figured in the several possible motives for the slaying was not clear today as authorities proceeded with the preliminaries to the prisoner's indictment and trial.

By The Canadian Press

The police said Longman's statement of events at the murder scene was as follows:

ASKED ABOUT BABY

"He knocked at the door, his wife admitted him. He inquired where the baby was and was told:

"He's in bed. Don't go in."

"Well, I want to go in," Longman insisted.

"No, don't go in," his wife asserted. "You'll disturb him. Come back later and see him."

"I can't," the husband answered. "I have a luncheon date with a girl."

Longman had his hand on his hip, which was a dresser, and was about to leave, when his wife said:

"You're not going to see the baby again."

Anger got the better of him, the story continued, and he picked up a candlestick from the bed and struck her. He broke and he seized his wife, Mrs. Longman, from the bed, threw her on the floor and seized him, scratching his face. He belabored her with the second candlestick and left her lying on the bed.

From there, he went to the room of John Harjes, a friend, removed his blood-spattered uniform, donned one of Harjes' suits and had breakfast. After eating, he wrapped the uniform in paper, boarded an east-bound bus to the east river, and buried the package about 20 feet into the water.

ALL BROKEN

Hogan's statement that Longman had signed a confession came shortly after the airman was confronted with his alibi, which turned out to be a former soldier.

Longman had insisted he was with an American soldier named Murray Worcester in a friend's New York apartment at about the time his wife was battered and strangled across her bed.

Then Maurice (Murray) Worcester, a Bridgeport, Conn., war worker, honorably discharged from the army several months ago and father of three children, was ushered into Longman's presence at the district attorney's office.

"Do you know this man—have you ever seen him before?" Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grunwald asked Longman.

"No," the tall, blond suspect replied.

When Worcester left the room, Longman was told:

"The man you never saw is Maurice Worcester."

Longman then admitted, Hogan said, that the Worcester of his story was a friend of his and gave the purported statement calmly.

Asked if Longman had given than $22,730,000 after less than 10 days' canvassing.

Far from complete, the Royal Canadian Navy's standing is considerably more than $2,644,000.

The army is over the 100-per-cent mark with $10,048,200 against an objective of $10,000,000. It went over the top with receipt of $1,063,850 in overseas subscriptions, exclusive of $169,200 from Kinks.

A total of $2,620,000 for No. 1 Training Command, Toronto, eased the R.C.A.F.'s grand total over the $10,000,000-line to $10,013,350—$38,600 more than it raised in the whole of the last loan.

Lebridge today was claiming the honor of being the first western city to go over the top in Canada's Fifth Victory War Loan campaign.

Late last night the city topped its quota of $1,464,000 by $148,500 and had exceeded its objectives in both general canvass and special names.

Cities having more than 55 per cent of objective with 55 per cent of the canvassing time gone include Vancouver 65.7.

Other standings: Edmonton 54.6; Saskatoon 50.6; Moose Jaw 50.5; Regina 48.2; Winnipeg 43.1; Calgary 38.2 and Medicine Hat 21.7, with 72.88 of the total objective.

In far north Alberta, McMurray Airways has 96 per cent of objective.

STOCKING UP

Suburban workers under the emergency direction of Clyde Gilman and his "mopping-up" crew report a fine response. The Gilman "Moppers" are calling at most of the 2,400 persons living just beyond the fringe of the Edmonton city limits.

They are finding that most of these people are buying bonds under group payroll control and of firms in the city where they are employed.

All Edmonton high schools are now organized, following the lead of Wexford and the new source of bond "revenue" is expected to become a big factor as the campaign advances.

Edmonton's military staff proudly waved its "V" pennant at the head of the bond parade in M.D. 13, army headquarters for the loan reported Friday. The Edmonton troops, under Lt.-Col. Alan Elliott, E.D., have subscribed 250 per cent of their quota.

Headquarters leads, however, in the matter of participation by personnel with 92 per cent buying bonds.

Seventeen groups in M.D. 13 are now over their dollar quota, the last group to go over the top being Wainwright training centre. Wainwright jumped from 87 to 100 per cent in one day.

Total sales for the military district now stand at $84,530, or 130 per cent of the original quota.

Third Army Ordnance Base, R.C.O.C. in Edmonton has sold bonds worth $8,750 to date.

NAVY IS HERE

R.M.C.S. Nanton continues to keep the navy far above its quota with sales of $25,000 to date.

Air force establishments here show the way to the entire training command.

No. 3 "M" depot has total sales for the first 10 days of the drive with a value of $91,000. No. 4 I.T.S. is second in the command with $118,200. No. 2 A.O.S., air force and civilian, has purchased bonds worth $62,450.

No. 16 Aeronautical district sales total $7,700; Northwestern Staging Corp., $21,200, while No. 3 Recruiting Centre sold bonds worth $6,600.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 28.—Ground advances gained in the British-Canadian and the British-American armies to within striking distance of the "little Rome" line across the Italian coast, it was announced today.

Montgomery's troops in the centre of the front drove forward a mile from the "little Rome" line by the Canadians, to capture the town of Mottola, a dominating ridge, 2,600 feet high. The Eighth Army also took Montefiore, four miles northwest of Cassanese and 16 miles inland from the Adriatic.

The capture of Montefiore brought the Eighth Army to within two miles of the Triunfo river in this sector.

HEAVY FIGHTING

In the advance three more small towns, Cassola, three miles north of Goriella; San Biase, six miles north of Goriella; and San Felice, three miles north of Acquafredda, were taken.

Some of the heaviest fighting in Italy was raging southwest of San Biase, five miles northwest of the Adriatic, where the Germans were fighting fiercely to prevent the Eighth Army from developing its two-mile bridgehead on the north bank of the Triunfo river.

Progress by Lt.-Gen. Clark's Fifth Army was aided by an American cruiser and destroyers which steamed into the Gaieta Gulf Wednesday night and shelled the German positions in the Minture area, some 14 miles above Mondragone, west coast of the German-occupied peninsula. The British wing of the Fifth Army, operating in this zone, was last reported three miles from Mondragone.

American troops driving up the main road to Rome gained two miles to threaten Tenna, junction of four roads four miles south of Mondragone. Tenna is a forward base for the new German line.

REPORT NEW OFFENSIVE

Another important report also was captured on the Fifth Army front, which stretched from the Gaieta Gulf to the Maresse mouth in central Italy. The Fifth Army engaged German rear guards along the whole length of the front.

(Radio Rome, heard in London, said the Allies had opened a new "general offensive" aimed at enveloping German forces and forcing the way to the central hinge of the Axis defenses. Both the Eighth and Fifth Armies were expected to participate simultaneously in the west and east, the broadcast said.

(Allied sources did not confirm the reports but a first dispatch to the London Daily Mail dated Thursday said "all the familiar evidence of battle signs" was visible.

BRACKEN PROPOSES Use of War Plants For Civil Purposes

OTTAWA, Oct. 28.—(CP)—John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, yesterday made public an exchange of telegrams in which he urged that "if war production is slackening—for reasons of lessened military needs, I think it time we planned to make better use of plants for essential civilian needs."

Fred Joyce, international representative of the United Automobile Workers (U.A.W.), Tuesday wrote Mr. Bracken, protesting against reduction from six to five days in the working week at the Dominion Forge and stamping plant in Windsor.

Mr. Bracken replied yesterday that he feels the workers are "right in demanding at least the reasons for reduction in working days in war industries until victory has been won."

Surprise Move

Allies Land on Two More Jap Held Isles

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Oct. 29.—Allied land, sea and air forces massed today for a knockout blow against Japan's remaining bases in the northern Solomons after a surprise landing by New Zealand and American troops on the Treasury Islands, only 28 miles southwest of the enemy's Buin-Paisi strongholds.

Confirming reports of the landings, broadcast yesterday by the Tokyo radio, a communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters and front dispatches said the Allied troops occupied both Mono and Shirir islands in the Treasury group at dawn Wednesday, following a heavy, night-long bombardment by warships.

The Tokyo announcement said only Mono island had been occupied.

A world-wide institution of authority to maintain the peace should be the last phase, said the former Republican president of the United States.

He opposed common citizenship, currency and military alliance with Britain as both unwise and dangerous, but instead called for collaboration among the United Nations.

I am one who believes that collaboration and co-operation between Britain and the United States is the first necessity for peace."

He said, "we should discard all old ideas of military alliance as an instrument of peace. Never has a military alliance produced peace, but many of them have produced wars, he said."

Because of its rounded body and handle-like tail, one species of Argentine catfish is named the "tying pan fish."

Contradicting Tokyo claims that Japanese naval planes had sunk an American cruiser and damaged another in the landing, a spokesman at Admiral William F. Halsey's South Pacific headquarters said there was no enemy opposition from the air.

Only minor opposition was encountered by the landing force and Allied casualties were described as light. The enemy garrisons fled into the interior of the tiny island. It was expected they would be mopped up quickly.

Nazi Retreat Becomes Rout In Some Areas

hug grip of destruction, field dispatches reported.

SEEKS WIRE OUT ENEMY

Investigative fighting was raging along the whole breadth of the steps along the German line of retreat, with Russian spearheads constantly probing the hindmost enemy positions and coming to grips with Nazis who failed to shake off the pursuit.

Falkenberg was developing the Melipot break-through with such rapidity that he appeared to be making a bid to destroy the German remnants. He was trying to smash clear through, split the Germans then turn and destroy each wing, front reports indicated.

The Nazi command probably lost its last chance for an organized stand below the Dnieper when the fall of the highway hub of Nizhny Serebryy, 50 miles west of Melipot, and Novo-Aleksandrovka, nine miles to the north, chopped off retreating German units in disorganized columns.

HOOPER ADVOCATES "People's Peace"

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, "impressed with a certain lack of reality" in current peace discussions, proposed last night that leading victorious powers pool their control and "a people's peace" be written for a people's war.

A world-wide institution of authority to maintain the peace should be the last phase, said the former Republican president of the United States.

He opposed common citizenship, currency and military alliance with Britain as both unwise and dangerous, but instead called for collaboration among the United Nations.

I am one who believes that collaboration and co-operation between Britain and the United States is the first necessity for peace."

He said, "we should discard all old ideas of military alliance as an instrument of peace. Never has a military alliance produced peace, but many of them have produced wars, he said."

Only minor opposition was encountered by the landing force and Allied casualties were described as light. The enemy garrisons fled into the interior of the tiny island. It was expected they would be mopped up quickly.

Here is a document which leaves no room for doubt on their attitude at that time. This document, which I rediscovered recently, sets forth the official regulations, carefully prepared in Berlin offices, for use in the correction camps for war prisoners.

"Each man is allowed not more than one litre of water per day, for all purposes. Communication between sentries and prisoners is expressly forbidden.

Before reproducing this document I should like to quote a passage from the book in which Vlasov says he needed to make murderers of the Germans: "In Russia," writes Vlasov, "and also in Nazi Germany, the companions shot down like a dog. I had to walk a short distance from the guard post and I did not hear the guard call him back. I thought, 'If I don't shoot him myself, the soldier who murdered him will shoot me.' I shot the democrats whose favorite topic of conversation was the 'freedom of man.' And not only here are the democrats the enemy of the evening."

For the Germans are forbidden to possess brushes, mirrors, razors, books, or musical instruments. They are look around, enter into conversation or walk together?"

ALTHOUGH Allan Cup playdowns are a long way off the much-boomed Pacific Command entry in the Coast League—Nanaimo Army—does justify rather a high rating mainly due to the fact the majority of the players performed with Victoria Army, Canadian finalists last spring.

Bill Carr's apprehension however has no Art Rice-Jones between the pipes this time. The former Calgary Stampeder now is a lieutenant overseas and there is little doubt his great goal-tending played a major part in Victoria's showing.

One of the prospective goals, Jesse Neely, has already seen service at the coast and prior to that was in the Crow's Nest. Earlier still he was at Stettler.

Edmonton will be well represented on the team for in addition to Coach Bill Carr, former Black Hawk, there are Elmer (Shadow) Kreller, Mel Lundie, Dave Mackay, also a former Hawk and Julian Sawchuk.

If the Carr-Kreller-Deslites line functions as a unit again this winter, opposition reminders will be in for some very warm seasons. This trio played brilliant hockey in the playdowns last April.

And Victoria's Mel Lundie's entry also has several ex-Edmontonians. Laurel Harney, veteran goal keeper, is one of the contenders for that spot again. Bus Arty is slated to visit one line and Len Bird and Ed Shamlock are applicants for forward berth.

BOMBERS COMING BACK
WINNIPEG R.C.A.P. Bombers are back with another good-looking puck squad. The team which was eliminated by Victoria Army in the last western final remains several bidders. While most of the coaches are jittery these days because of a scarcity of players, Coach Bill Cockburn's main worry appears to be a surplus of talent.

For goal there are Hal Thompson of the Manitoba U. Air Training Corps, and "Scotty" Munn. Two former New York Rangers, Alfie Pike and Bill Junda, are candidates for defence along with Wally Stencowicz, ex-Toronto Leaf and "Butch" Marchant. Included with a host of forwards are such men as Felix Langelie, Great Leaf

Weakened National Hockey League Starts 26th Season Tomorrow

Four N.H.L. Clubs in Action Saturday

Maple Leaf Blues Take Exhibition From Whites 11-8

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP)—

The 1943-44 edition of Toronto Maple Leafs—who will play in the National Hockey League this season and many who won't—displayed their wares in a 11-8 exhibition in the annual pre-season contest between the Blues and the Whites.

The Blues won the game by a 11-8 score at least that was the count up until the last minute of play when all 14 Whites and the 17 Blues whirled into a confusing finale with every player in action.

Four former Leafs who now are privates in the Canadian army, donned uniforms in the second period and took to the ice. Hank Goldie and Billy Taylor reinforced the Blues and Turk Brown and Syd Apps appeared with the Whites. It was Apps' first public appearance in hockey competition since he suffered a broken leg in an N.H.L. game here last January.

Young Jackie Hamilton, who jumped from junior to pro ranks last season to take Apps' place after the popular centre star was injured, was the big scorer for the Blues with three goals.

Centre, Joe Krol, former Chicago, Paul Platz, Roy McBride, Bob Loney and Bill Snider.

Withdrawal of Regina Army really wrecked Saskatchewan's chances for a senior circuit, as it left only Saskatoon Navy and Flin Flon. An attempt is being made to form an all-league and if that fails, a move will be started to organize a provincial junior loop. Saskatoon Navy I.H.C.S. Uniform team has three of the boys who played with the minor Quakers against the R.A.C. in the western semi-final in the spring of last year—Tony Lewicki, Keith Aiken and Freddy Weaver.

Jimmy Bivins Is Reclassified

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.—(AP)—

Jimmy Bivins, rated as a National Boxing Association as a logical contender for the heavyweight championship held by Sgt. Joe Louis, has been reclassified 1-A in the draft, his co-manager and trainer Wilfred (Whitey) Bangs Carter said Thursday.

Carter reported Bivins had been working in a local war plant for about eight months "but the draft board apparently didn't have that information when it reclassified him 1-A last week."

"Jimmy is the father of two children and working in an essential industry," Carter added, "and I understand the company will appeal his reclassification."

Detroit opens its title defence here Sunday against New York Rangers, who start off a season double-header by playing Saturday at Toronto. Boston plays at Montreal Saturday and Toronto is at Chicago Sunday.

Only twice since the last war has the Stanley Cup remained with the same club for two successive years, and Adams isn't picking Detroit to repeat.

Adams thinks the team to beat is Boston although Chicago and Toronto are ranked next best clubs. "But, in Adams' book, every club is going to be tough to lick at home."

Seibert Named Hawks' Captain

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 26.—(CP)—

Earl Seibert, a member of the 1942-43 National Hockey League all-star team, has been named captain of the Chicago Black Hawks this season, club officials announced Thursday.

Seibert, for 14 years a top-ranking defenceman, will perform this season on the Hawks' first string rearguard with Jack Dye, 200-pound rookie from Toronto. Dye now is in Canada obtaining his clearance papers for the duration of the hockey season.

Club officials also announced the team will leave Minneapolis tonight for Chicago, where they will open their N.H.L. schedule against Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday.

Number 9 Lucky For Hockey Star

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—(CP)—

Number nine looks like the lucky number this year for Maurice Richard, fleet winger with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Maurice drew sweater nine Wednesday, about the same time he became a daddy of a nine-pound baby girl.

So he shut three goals against Cornwall in an exhibition game.

Diamonds were first added to wedding rings by the Venetians.

More Playing Strength

Home Games Will Mean Lot To Pro Teams This Season

DETROIT, Oct. 26.—(AP)—

Home surroundings seem to mean more in hockey than in any other major league sport, and this season, says manager Jack Adams of the world championship Detroit Red Wings, they'll mean more than ever.

It isn't nostalgia or home cooking or travel weariness, declares Adams, who this week started his 17th season as pilot of Detroit's National Hockey League entry. His explanation is that many athletes who work regular war plant shifts can't get away for long road trips and others in Canada can't get border clearance into this country.

"We have at least half a dozen players who may travel except for short, week-end trips," says Adams. "Consequently we plan to carry an unusually large squad. We won't be on the road, but I understand other clubs are in the same fix."

Detroit opens its title defence here Sunday against New York Rangers, who start off a season double-header by playing Saturday at Toronto. Boston plays at Montreal Saturday and Toronto is at Chicago Sunday.

Red Wings Pre-Season Favorites

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP)—

The National Hockey League, fighting for survival against a war-imposed shortage of player talent, opens its 26th season Saturday with all six clubs slated to see action on the opening week-end program of a 4½-month schedule calling for each team to play 50 games.

Four of the league's teams swing into play opening night, with Boston Bruins at Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers at Toronto Maple Leafs. Detroit Red Wings start defence of their Stanley Cup title at home against Rangers Sunday night while Chicago Black Hawks entertain Leafs.

Detroit, successful in four straight over Boston in the 1942-43 Stanley Cup final series, has lost seven regulars from last season but the remaining cast is so powerful that Wings have been ranked as favorites in early speculation.

Leafs and Rangers, relying heavily on youthful and inexperienced players, have not been overlooked in what promises to be a wide-open race.

Caps Win Opener From Bisons 5-3

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 26.—(AP)—

Indiana Caps opened their 1943-44 campaign in the American Hockey League last night with a 5-3 decision over the Buffalo Bisons. The Caps, sporting an entire new team with the exception of three who still may go to the Detroit Red Wings, never were behind. Billy Hudson shot them out in front at 10:25 of the first period and they had a 2-1 lead at the end of the first.

Bill Quackenbush added a goal in the second period and in the final period Hudson scored again to give the Caps a 4-1 lead.

Buffalo still had something left, however, and Deke Klein and Tommy Fergie scored two goals.

Winkie Smith stole the puck near his own goal and registered the last tally for Indianapolis with only 39 seconds to go.

Bert Gardiner Goes to Bruins

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—(CP)—

Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens said Thursday that goalie Bert Gardiner was going to Boston Bruins. He did not give any details of the deal.

Irvin said Canadiens would use Bill Durnum, former goalie of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, in the nets with 17-year-old Jerry McNell of Quebec as understudy.

He was en route to Camp Adair, Ore., for an exhibition last night.

Young People Form Lloydminster Group

LLOYDMINSTER—

Jean Dawson, elected president of Knox Presbyterian Young People's group at an organization meeting held last week, said officers elected were: Ivor Jones, vice-president; Miss Betty Harbin, secretary; Jean Rogers, treasurer; Carol Jean McCree, director of music. On the executive committee are Betty Skinner, Dorcas Thomas, and Marion Klatt.

The Rev. E. A. Thomson, general secretary of the Sunday school and Young People's Society of the Presbyterian church, was guest of honor. He spoke on "Courage."

Red Wings Sign A.H.L. Player

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 26.—(AP)—

Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League announced last night he had signed big Bill Quackenbush, but added that the blond defenceman would play centre as Pat Egan is ready to break into the lineup.

Quackenbush, who turned pro a year ago, spent most of last season with Indianapolis in the American Hockey League.

Egan, hard-hitting defenceman, who has been discharged by the Presbyterian church, was guest of honor at his border clearance papers yesterday.

Marriage Earns $180,280

Bargain Counter Gee-Gees Boast Beautiful Bankrolls

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(AP)—

R. A. Coward is a fellow who no doubt believes marriage is a great institution. This is aside from Coward's ideas on wedded bliss, because in the current case, Marriage is a horse. The California furniture man, turned rancher, claimed Marriage from a race for $5,000 a couple of years ago, and has won $180,280 with the thoroughbred.

It was rather example of the horse market mark-downs of recent years, topped off by such cheap buys as Al Sabath, Chicago Lawyer and Lou Tafano, Long Island contractor.

Altogether, 21 of these horses, picked up for $100 up, have earned bankrolls of more than $50,000 each. Eleven of them are in the $100,000 bracket and three—Moland, Mar. Wise and Alab—are over the $200,000 mark. The 31 have collected $2,975,652.

In the lot is a Kentucky Derby winner, Galataphone, bought for $2,000; Hayview, who hit the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap jackpot for Tony Pelletier; and Doubtbraved in a stocky year. Doubtbraved cost Mrs. Tilyou Christopher of Miami $6,000.

There also are such current stock stars as Holbrook, Slide Rule, Marriage, Thumbs Up, Prince Quillo, with Regard, Betsy (who cost just $100) and Rounders.

Saturday's Pimlico special of the lot will include three of them—Slide Rule, for whom W. E. Hoefing paid some $80,000, and who has won $100,000; Euronian, who has picked up $80,215 since he was bought for $2,000 last May by Frank and Joe Babinevich; and Hal Prince Headley's Antilemman, winner of $57,260.

Alab stands out as probably the lot's most gilded investment. The Sals' $345,925 bank account makes him the fourth highest money winner in history. Moland, a $15,000 purchase, who has collected $243,885, is just one of the reasons Charlie Howard, Los Angeles automobile man, is known as "Lucky Charlie." Before Moland, there was Sea Breeze, and since then Howard paid $12,000 for Porter's Cap, a $126,250 winner.

Then there's Pelletieri, of New Orleans, who chipped in $7,700 for Bay View and Andy K. and hanked $172,365 with them.

Britons Seek No Vengeance Says Speaker

The English people don't want vengeance on the Germans, even though their first objective is total German surrender. Every bit of English energy is being directed to the winning of the war, said Dr. W. W. Judd, social services leader of the Anglican church, Toronto, to members of the Lions club at the Macdonald hotel Thursday noon.

The English, even though they do not like war, are going to see this thing through; they know they cannot let the Germans get away with it any more, he said.

Dr. Judd, speaking on the "Island Fortress of Great Britain," told his listeners that the first Canadian division was the only organized group in the country when England was at its crisis; Canadian troops were scattered all over southern England, not placed in great camps as in the first war. Those Canadians, he said, were determining factors in Hitler's going east, instead of coming west.

PEOPLE WORK HARD

The English work hard; each person is doing his part. The people serve out of 10 boys and girls between 14 and 17 years of age are doing some kind of war work. Even civilians today are wearing clothes which come from war factories, he stated.

Women of Britain are numerically more numerous than men in any other nation in the world, continued the speaker. English farmers, not so backward as they once believed, are all managed by women. They operate dairy, station cars, trams.

Discipline in England is a well-imposed discipline, which gives a greater dignity to those people, he explained, saying we in Canada have not learned the real spirit of sacrifice. Until we do we will not win the war.

England was described as the place where right ideas of freedom dwell. England will be the pioneer of a new initiative and freedom in spirit of all, continued Dr. Judd, who told of seeing three notices prominently displayed during his visit there. One called for a demonstration of Fascist obstruction; a second announced a meeting of Marxists; a third demanded that ladies' trousers be released. Freedom of speech still existed in England.

PRAY FOR JUSTICE

People, said Dr. Judd, have wasted time praying for justice; they should have prayed for justice after the fact. Peace is the fruit of righteousness; without righteousness there can be no peace. Justice, justice in a nation is part and parcel of justice among nations.

Four things were necessary when thinking of peace—Germany must be dismantled and kept dismantled; 2—We must work with Russia and not be afraid of her or the Communistic movement; 3—China weak economically and militarily must be helped; 4—World organization for peace must rest on the shoulders of the white race. Germany, Russia and China must be taken into that organization, he declared.

Clifton Owen, president of the club, was chairman.

Professor Speaks To Unity Council

Professor Albert L. Cru, teacher of French at the University of Alberta, gave a talk on the village of France with many illustrations of the various types of village in the various provinces at the meeting of the Common Council for Canadian Unity held at the Telus Torah hall Thursday evening.

Professor Cru stated that the village "liberty, equality and fraternity" have been changed by the Nazis to "family, work and discipline." Many people believe that France is out of the war, but that is wrong, because the 25 divisions or 200,000 men that the Germans are keeping in France is out of the 42 million Frenchmen, help to keep those Nazis from the other fronts of Europe.

The villages in each province in France have a story of their own history to tell, because the peasants have lived there for centuries generations, preserving their old customs and the stories handed down through the generations. Some of these villages can trace back to their ancestors during the time of Charlemagne, in 800, he said.

Following Professor Cru's talk, five-minute addresses were given by Mrs. Clifford Butterworth, A.

Rotarians Hold "Ladies' Night"

Three hours of entertainment, preceded by a banquet, and followed by melody and mirth, legions and clowning, was provided by the Rotary Club of Edmonton, in the Macdonald hotel, Thursday night, when more than 240 members, their wives and visitors attended "Ladies' Night." Two of the principal luminaries, Anna Russell and Capt. Harry H. Baker, co-starred in the excellent program.

Capt. Baker, with his sleight-of-hand and witty repartee, kept the gathering on edge, as he picked cards out of the air, sawed a Rotarian's tie in two, and then tied knots in a scarf and whistled them out.

Russell, with her six-act-part contribution, proved herself a versatile and clever entertainer, from her impersonation of a lady at a wedding to the singer of operetta. Her love for "The Fella Who Played the Drum" was only exceeded by the letter she read from her son-for-her-sister's dancing. She also gave two impressions of persons who apply for auditions to appear as entertainers at the Toronto women's army hut.

Assisting Miss Russell was Alex Kavan, pianist. Bill Bruce acted as chairman.

E. Ottewill, Wellesley Fraser and W. H. Thornton.

Mrs. Rita Bowman was in the chair and Miss Vera Peck was secretary. Mrs. H. C. Newland, secretary of the society since it was organized, has resigned. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Newland for the work she had done during her term in office.

Edmonton Sailor Home on Leave

Sgt. Maurice Mortimer, 24, a member of the Royal Canadian Navy for four years, is in Edmonton on leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Mortimer, 1060 22 St.

Since enlisting, Sgt. Mortimer has been active on both the east and west coasts. One of his most exciting moments was when his convoy put out from a Mediterranean port and passed another convoy. Just at that moment four Nazi bombers appeared, and harassed the convoys two and a half hours. A merchant ship was sunk, and the reason there were no more casualties was because of the heavy anti-aircraft fire from the ships.

Sgt. Mortimer paid high tribute to the courage of the British people. He said they took the war as part of their daily job, and were determined to see it through to a victorious conclusion.

One thing that he enjoyed while on leave in England was a visit with the mayor of Edmonton, England. He said that he and Mayor John W. Fry of Edmonton, Canada corresponded with each other frequently.

Sgt. Mortimer attended Mr. Carmel and St. Joseph's high school before finishing his schooling at Edmonton Technical School.

His mother, Mrs. George Mortimer, is active in the Navy Mothers' Club, and recently "adopted" a close friend of her son, Sgt. John McIntyre, who was a member of the Australian navy, but has since joined the Canadian navy.

CHAPTER XX
OUTSIDE Frankfurt they were "lucky" enough to get a lift on a truck, already crowded with refugees. On account of the rain the driver had bypassed Frankfurt on his way east to Offenbach. The destination suited Imhof perfectly. From Offenbach he and Pat went south by train to another line.

The plan worked out satisfactorily enough. From Offenbach, by means of branch lines, with several changes and considerable waiting for connections, they arrived in Darmstadt late that afternoon.

Leaving Pat in the waiting room, crowded to capacity with refugees from Frankfurt, Imhof went to inquire about trains and the chances of reaching Mannheim during the night.

As he waited for Imhof's return, Pat watched the milling crowd. With many "Verenheit" a little man straggled past her, heading for an exit. Next instant he halted, peering through his thick-rimmed glasses at a man who, seated on an upended valve almost back to back with her, was reading a newspaper in the falling light.

"Kurt!" exclaimed the little man. "Kurt Schroeder!"

"Gottfried Ritter!" exclaimed the other. He rose and shook hands warmly. "How are you?"

"Fine," answered Ritter. "But fendishly busy. So much sickness these days."

"Then you're practicing in Darmstadt now?"

"Yes, but I get called away a good deal. Just back from Frankfurt, where I've been trying to help out. Dreadful, these raids. How are you?"

"As well as can be expected." "Been ill?" The nearest eyes seemed professionally.

"Wounded. Got a packet in Russia. Been invalided out of the Luftwaffe."

Pat who had been listening indifferently, craned her neck to shoot a look of cold, disdainful curiosity at this late member of the German air force.

"So?" the doctor sympathized. "Sorry, I had not heard. I noticed you were not in uniform. What are you doing now? You must miss flying."

"Oh, I still fly. Deliver planes from factory to field."

Pat picked up her ears and a speculative light came into her eyes. She stood very still, with her back to the former Luftwaffe man, and frankly eavesdropped.

"Where are you stationed?" asked Dr. Ritter.

"I was at Hannover, but they've transferred me to Mannheim. I'm on leave now and on my way to Bensheim to spend the time at my home."

"Bensheim? Then you people still live there? Give them my very best regards."

"Did you know I was married?" "No. Congratulations."

"And I have a little son—four months."

"Now, from Mannheim, I shall be able to get home fairly often. This transfer from Hannover is wonderful luck for me."

"Mannheim! Let me see. I've an operation there on the 17th. Will you be there then?"

"Ach, no! I report on the afternoon of the 18th."

"To bad. Still, my work takes me to Mannheim now and then. Where will you be staying?"

"I'm putting up at the Pfälzer, but for a while, I'll find quarters of my own."

Ritter made a note of the name in his address book, then glanced at his wristwatch. "The get to be off," he said. "But it's been great luck running into you. Take care of that wound, Kurt. And Wiedersehen."

The two men clicked heels, shook hands and the doctor staggered away towards the exit. Schroeder remained standing at his house.

Presently Schroeder's train was announced and back in hand he joined the throng pressing towards the platform.

Pat flung herself after him, at the same time watching out for Imhof. As she wriggled through the crowd she suddenly signaled him. "Rudolph!" she screamed.

Imhof shouldered his way through the mob of people to her side. "We shouldn't wait this train," he said. "It's jammed. There's another."

"That man ahead! Must keep near him," Pat nodded at Schroeder, whom this gesture did not identify for Imhof. "Can't explain now. Do as I say," she ordered. "This is important."

At last passengers stopped alighting from the train and the waiting crowd on the platform moved forward to get aboard. The crush was terrific but notwithstanding Pat managed to worm through the jam even closer to her quarry.

Imhof, despite his drawn, almost lost contact with her. When Schroeder climbed aboard, he followed triumphantly right at his heels.

There was not a seat to be had and new passengers had to stand in the corridor. Pat was next to Schroeder, who seated himself on his upended valve, and Imhof next to her. When the train last snuffed out they stayed like one man, so close were they packed, under the ghastly light of the dimmed-out lamps. Night had fallen outside.

For some while the train bumped and jolted and swayed. Then suddenly, with a pained, choking cry of "Wasser!" Pat reeled and lost balance. Before Imhof could react, he had crumpled up, limply into the lap of the amazed Schroeder.

McCoy Health Service

Bad breath and body odors have been much publicized over the last few years by manufacturers of antiseptic mouth washes and soaps and no doubt much good has been accomplished in having people realize that they may be offenders in this respect, without being aware of it. Even if the cause of bad breath is far removed from the mouth, the use of an antiseptic mouthwash can do no harm and the frequent use of our antiseptic soap in bathing the body is certainly helpful in maintaining personal cleanliness and keeping the pores of the skin free of waste.

One of four associated conditions, namely septic mouth conditions, or putrefaction in the nasal sinuses, or putrefaction in the lungs, smoking or the eating of substances which cause toxins and so forth, and severe toxic conditions, especially those affecting the digestive tract.

Bad breath is due in most cases however to local decomposition in the mouth and inspection will show farther dental caries, septic gums, pyorrhea or decomposing food particles. When the cause is removed, normal breath will again return. In the matter of body odors, these can often be traced to a general toxic state in which the perspiration is so loaded with toxins to offend, even after taking a hot shower. In such cases the condition must be treated systematically so that the other eliminative organs such as the kidneys and the bowels carry off the offensive wastes. Lack of personal hygiene is often the most common cause of body odor, and those working in vocations which require considerable physical effort should have frequent showers, because of the excessive perspiration.

Those afflicted with persistent body odors without any apparent cause, will find that a few days on a fruit juice fast will often remedy the condition, and the careful avoidance of certain foods of the sulphur forming type in the daily diet thereafter will help to prevent a return of the trouble.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 100 words. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 121 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

GREAT ACTORS DO NOT FEEL THE EMOTIONS THEY PORTRAY

William James, the noted Harvard psychologist, once collected a vast number of statements from leading actors and actresses regarding their emotional experiences while acting. Some claimed they tried to feel the way they acted, but the majority stated that if they inwardly experienced the thing they were trying to portray outwardly, they were definitely handicapped. Mostly, actors try to remain calm and rational when acting out emotional parts, and it is themselves become emotional, their acting is much poorer and less effective on the audience.
